Final approval and adoption of the plans being drawn now rest with the meeting of the assembly of the league at Geneva on November 15 when for the first time all the States which have entered the league will come together to agree upon the many courses of action drafted by committees thus far to minimize the causes of international conflict and prevent the actual outbreak of war.

Third, the council of the league has tracen definite action with respect to the fulfillment of the mandates or truster-ships over former German colonies and other countries. This is vital because it not only sims to secure equality of commercial opportunity; but also seeks to New York prevent these backward countries from "Fourth, the draft scheme of the perma-
